Photoshop CS6 comes with a number of training courses included in the disc, including one that teaches Photoshop with the Adobe Creative Suite. The courses range in length from 12 minutes up to 27 hours. The three hours of tutorials that appear in this chapter can be installed together as one very comprehensive 12-hour course for $19.95 at . Photoshop offers the basic editing tools you may be familiar with (although its toolbox is bigger than those in other popular graphics programs), such as the following: The Paintbrush tool: Uses a paintbrush-type tool that is similar to the tool in Adobe Illustrator (see Chapters 9 and 13). It allows you to paint on a selected layer, and then you have many options for manipulating the painting. You can create basic shapes, change colors, move shapes, and apply textures and gradients. The Pen tool: Gives you a similar effect to the Paintbrush tool, but it is much quicker. Just as with Illustrator, the Pen tool in Photoshop is invaluable for drawing basic shapes. You can also use it to create freehand, digital painting; however, its capabilities are limited and it does not offer the range of options the Paintbrush does. You can use the Pen tool along with the Brush tool for details, such as creating circles and lines. The Brush tool: Gives you a lot more control of the digital-painting tools than the Pen tool; you can also use it with the layers, as well as different effects. Use the Brush tool for more realistic and freehand painting as opposed to drawing basic shapes with the Pen tool. Figure 9-1 shows you how the Brush tool works. If you're not totally happy with what you create in Photoshop, you can print out your work and then use another program, such as Paint.NET or CorelDraw, to enhance the color and retouch or modify images. Figure 9-1: You can use the Brush tool to paint objects on layers and create realistic effects. Tweaking Your Photos Photoshop is a big, intimidating program. However, it's not impossible to figure out, as long as you check out the tips in this section. The following shows you how to use a few

Welcome back to the 2019 Steelers season. Here are some key stats and trends as we head into Week 1 against the Chiefs: When Ben Roethlisberger plays, the Steelers are 12-4 this season. When he does not play, they are 0-3. The Chiefs have the NFL's No. 2 overall defense. The Steelers are 0-3 in games decided by a touchdown or less this season. The Steelers are 0-1 when the Chiefs lead at the half. The Steelers rank 5th in the league in overall sacks. They also rank 4th in sacks allowed per game, giving up 4.29 sacks per game. The Steelers are No. 1 in the NFL in sacks. They've had at least one sack in every game, except in a Week 15 win over the Bengals when they didn't sack anyone. Pittsburgh Steelers vs. Kansas City Chiefs Stats & Trends The Steelers have held their opponents to 21 sacks so far in the 2018 season. The Steelers were top 10 in the NFL in sacks by both the number of sacks they recorded (9th) and number of sacks per game (6th). However, the Steelers only averaged 3.7 sacks per game. Roethlisberger ranks 3rd in the NFL in completion percentage when he throws to his tight ends. He's 8-of-9 for 135 yards and a touchdown against the Chiefs. Fantasy Football: Chiefs to beat Steelers? The NFL's No. 1 defense will get the Steelers this season, but last season they only allowed 22 points per game. The Steelers defense is a different looking team this season, thanks to additions like RB James Conner, WRs Diontae Johnson and Darrius Heyward-Bey, and CBs Joe Haden and Stephon Gilbert. Steelers vs. Chiefs in Week 1 game predictions It's going to be close. I think the defense takes a loss. I think the Steelers play a bit of a good game but fall short. How To Stop The Car Engine Auto Shut Off In two of the five cars I drove, the engine shutdown was due to a power management system (the EMB13, and the Ford Fusion, both 2011 models). The EMB13 put the engine into a power saving mode, which was sort of like shutting the engine down, and the Ford

Q: How to use of underscore with jsoup Android? I'm trying to make a search box in my app using jsoup. The search box list every item in my database. I tried to find the element id (which have the text that I want) but it's not working. I also want to make it that when I have found the id element it will automatically change to the next item. For example when I typed Paris the element id would change to London to search further. Can anyone help me? This is the div that I want to change when I type something in the input and I already have the id element. A: Working example: var searchBox = document.querySelector('.metro-search'); searchBox.addEventListener('keyup', function() { var selected = document.querySelector('.singlesresult'); var id = selected.getAttribute('id'); var html = selected.innerHTML; var site = document.querySelector('#site'); var elements = site.querySelectorAll('a'); elements = Array.prototype.slice.call(elements); for (var i = 0; i
