At the heart of the ethical rules described here are the three moral obligations that govern the conduct of the researcher: The Duty of Beneficence, The Duty of Nonmaleficence, and The Duty of Justice. Finger Picking, Piano Playing, Guitar Playing, Singer/Songwriter, Trumpet, and Saxophone. A clarification of these ethical rules should encourage students to express their ideas in new ways, and help them understand the nature of critical thinking and creativity. An equal amount of time should be spent on the rules themselves. Students should be encouraged to identify when they are performing these acts of plagiarism or deception. They should also be encouraged to think about how to prevent plagiarism and deception in the future, even if the content of a project is not copied from someone else's work. FindThatWord is a complete word search creation tool. This program lets you create your own word search puzzles and fills them with words and symbols. You can use this program to make your own puzzle book, word search worksheet, and crossword for your students. You can even use it to make puzzles for your own personal enjoyment! You don't need to be a teacher or computer geek to use this tool. And it's totally free! Find That Word Features: With FindThatWord, you can make your own puzzles and fill them with words and symbols. Create puzzles as small as 4x4 to puzzles as big as 11x13! You can use all the symbols you need to create puzzles that are fun and educational. In addition to letter symbols and punctuation, you can use the full range of what are often referred to as "puzzles," including those like bingo cards and sudoku. There are also "free" symbols like the "+" and "!" indicators, as well as more complicated ones like the full range of normal English letters and punctuation. FindThatWord is easy to use and you can create your own puzzles right on your desktop. You don't need to learn any of the program's symbols or use a mouse. A simple click or two, and you're done! You can even create puzzles right from your Web browser! This word search creator also lets you create a variety of puzzles automatically. Select a puzzle type (such as "Random"), then select from a list of symbols and words. The program will choose a random word and a random symbol for each "cell." This means you can create puzzles that don't have to be based on letters, a subject area, theme or any other set of criteria. For example, you can create a puzzle by entering a group of words, symbols and punctuation, and then clicking to add the random words, symbols and punctuation for each puzzle cell. You can also create puzzles that include words that are already in the dictionary (based on their frequency), or that are "hidden" in the puzzle. There are many, many more features. These are just a few of the highlights! You can check out the full list in the Features menu. You can use any combination of letters, numbers and punctuation to create your own word search puzzles. And unlike most other programs, FindThatWord's alphabet, numbers and punctuation are absolutely free! Another great feature of FindThatWord is its completely automatic layout. You don't have to tell the program what size to make the puzzle. This feature is a big time saver, since it means you can quickly and easily create large puzzle books or crossword worksheets with little or no effort. Another great feature of FindThatWord is its features. It is the most powerful tool for creating your own crosswords and word searches.
