I followed a few tutorials online but I just don't understand the last bit. This is what it says: Now open up the terminal again (now you're in the recovery mode) su buster (root) Now I would like you to type: fastboot oem unlock Now press enter Now type: fastboot oem write Now Press Enter Now type: fastboot reboot Now Press Enter The techtutorial then says to try reinstalling the SD card but I have tried that. So, what should I type in the terminal now? A: I am not 100% sure why you need to use that particular terminal window. I suggest that you skip the part where it asks you to use the terminal window and follow the tutorial to the end as indicated above. Also I recommend that you connect the Pi to your

Every year, Apple releases a new version of iTunes with lots of improvements and new features. However, this year's version of the iTunes app is not the only thing that has changed; iTunes 11 comes with a redesigned UI and several new features such as the iCloud updates, iTunes Match and Beats 1. In this article, we will tell you all the important changes that Apple has made to iTunes in iTunes 11. Simpler and Cleaner interface iTunes 11 is a completely new and redesigned version of the iTunes. Apple has adopted a completely new theme which makes it look cleaner and simpler than it was a few years ago. The interface comes with a lot of improvements, but it looks a little bit different than iTunes 10. Beats 1 Back in iTunes 11 Apple has also created a playlist named Beats 1 which is exclusively for the Beats 1 radio station. Listen to the radio station in the top right corner of the app. The radio station will give you some exclusive songs with other songs of the same artist. You can download the songs easily and the radio station is on for 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. iCloud updates iCloud is the service that Apple has introduced with every new iteration of the OS X. iCloud is basically a cloud-based storage service which is meant to keep your data at the cloud. Unlike the other cloud services, iCloud will not need you to have an internet connection to access your data. If your device is off for some time, then you can access your iCloud data from any other device that has a constant internet connection. iTunes Match iTunes Match is the feature which allows you to transfer your purchased songs from the iTunes Store to your PC or Mac. You will need to have an Apple ID and either an iCloud account or a user-created Apple ID. In this case, the app will search the iCloud for your Apple ID and match your songs with similar songs 6a5afdab4c
