Coffin Dodgers is a 2D single player action/driving game where you try to get the highest score by destroying the player's home field while your opponents do the same. You start the game with a mobility scooter, which is the safest way to travel. Your goal is to find a new place to live, preferably far away from your home town where you've already found a place. Over the course of the game, you'll become more powerful by acquiring new mobility scooters and destroy more and more of your opponents' homes. And when that's not enough, you can also build your own home and destroy the other player's home. Your goal is to use all your mobility scooters to drive as far as you can before you die, while destroying your opponents' homes and moving on as quickly as possible. All the moves are right in front of you, so no sliding towards the edge of your scooter when

- Attrition: A race to reach the opponent's home.
- Inferno: A race against the clock on a specified map.
