Q: How do I get into the default vsftpd directory and use it? I've created a new FTP server, and when I try to access it, it says I can't connect. However, when I type ftp localhost I am successfully connected to the directory structure, but not inside it. How do I put files into it? I'm using vsftpd.

A: You first need to change the owner of the directory. Add the following line to /etc/vsftpd.conf chown $USER:$USER /var/www/ Then restart the server. sudo restart vsftpd The /var/www/ directory will now belong to you (and any users you define in your ftp server configuration) Q:
