8. Visitadores » Bipolar (Mania). By order of the United States Commissioner for Patents (1333): Official Gazette PARIS, (BM) - The Federative Management of Wine of the Barrie-based International Institute of Wine (IIW) has reported that the wine industry managed to increase its turnover by 5.8% last year, primarily due to the growth in exports during the period. Wines from the most important national regions - the South of France, Italy, Spain and Portugal - were the best performing with 6.5% and 5.4% growth, respectively. The Barrie region of Ontario Canada is expected to be one of the best performing regions over the medium to long term due to a number of reasons. The principal factors include the superior quality of the Ontario wine sector and a growing consumer demand, particularly in the imported wine segment, said the IIW. Meanwhile, the effects of the economic crisis have reduced demand for French and Spanish wines as consumers instead turn towards the cheaper and more affordable Argentine and Chilean wines. The IIW also anticipates that the export market for Ukrainian wines will experience strong demand, mainly due to the country's stable economy. The IIW's medium term forecasts are cautious, however, as a number of economic factors could have a significant impact on wine production and consumption. The IIW added that, despite the uncertain geopolitical situation in the major wine-producing countries, a number of other factors such as changes in regulations, increased consumer awareness and changing consumer habits, are also shaping the global wine market, making 2017 more favourable for wine producers and importers. At a press conference, the IIW said, "We know the way to build a wine market is to drink wine. It is, therefore, an imperative for us to support, promote and connect the key stakeholders in the wine industry, such as the wine producers, wine traders and retail companies." [3] The figures in the text are from vol. 29, Appellant's App. at 767. [4] Appellee has not asked for any non-statutory damages in addition to statutory damages. [5] The parties have consented to the jurisdiction of a United States Magistrate and a review by the District Court of the Magistrate's verdict and judgment. [6] At the close of the evidence, appellee moved for directed verdicts as to "(a) liability against JILL MICHELLE for conversion of the personal property," and "(b) damages of $7,000 against JILL MICHELLE." (Appellant's App. at 40.) The Magistrate agreed that appellee was entitled to judgment on liability, but ruled against appellant on the issue of damages. On the issue of damages, the Magistrate ruled that damages should be calculated on the original value of the paintings, rather than on the then-current value. [7] The Magistrate
