What's new in Gamer Sensei's Range Royale:

! This was the title of the 10th anniversary conference of the Forum of Policy Innovators that took place in Washington D.C. on Nov. 14-15, 2017. The event was organized by Grits for Breakfast, NELP, ImagineChange, National Community Action Network, PolicyLink and the New Organizing Institute. I look forward to collaborating with all of them to forge new policy coalitions to end poverty in America. All year long, NELP led a popular press campaign "It's Not Poverty, It's a Choice" to inform Americans about the devastating impact of federal policies that leave working families on the streets. The campaign featured media coverage, media outreach, stakeholder meetings, an Igniting the Flame report, and web and social media outreach. Below, for those of you who would like to know, is a video taken at the last official press conference where two members of Congress, James Clyburn (D-SC) and Frank Pallone (D-NJ), a member of the House Education and Workforce committee, and representatives of Congressional Black Caucus chairwomen, Rep. Barbara Lee (D-CA) and Rep. Alma Adams (D-NC), discussed poverty. The video was recorded at a press conference for the 10th anniversary conference of the Forum of Policy Innovators to address poverty. The event was organized by NELP and ImagineChange and featured nationally recognized thought leaders and policy innovators as well as a range of local organizations serving people living in deep poverty. The press conference was live-streamed in conjunction with a town hall meeting for people experiencing deep poverty and their families and included activists, advocates, service providers, and scholars. This video, titled It's Not Poverty, It's a Choice, was taken by Diane Chambers of Working Assets. I want to thank Plutella for bringing this important topic up. We need to make sure that we include people living in poverty whenever we talk about poverty. We need to free our thinking and our policy discussions from the charitable reductionist notion that poverty is on the individual level. It's a very different characteristic. I want to thank all of you here for joining us today and thank Grits for breakfast for sponsoring this important and timely event. Join us next time. We need to start asking ourselves about why that leaves so many people - many of them people of color - in poverty. Millions of
