—US Version Seven Dunes: Curse of the Golden Sand is the seventh studio album by Japanese musician and lyricist Suicidal Tendencies. The album was released in 1999 by P-Vine Records and was the band's only album since Negative Tendancy to be released by a major label. The album reuses some of the same production, songwriting, and instrumentation that were used on Negative Tendancy and includes some new contributors. The album ended up being very commercially successful for Suicidal Tendencies. It sold 120,000 copies in the United States, charting on Billboards Independent Albums chart. This was the band's highest sales on an independent label until July 2010s Killing Is My Business... and Business Is Good! broke the streak by selling 120,000 copies in the country. Seven Dunes also had international success, ranking on various record charts. Seven Dunes received a positive critical response when it was released. It is the first major label album to feature guitarist Sean Michna and drummer Phil O'Donnell, who co-founded P-Vine Records, and the last major label album to feature guitarist Chad Smith. Writing and recording Seven Dunes was mainly recorded at the Mustard Room studios in Los Angeles with one session recorded at Reciprocal Studios in New York City. Marc Jacobsen produced the album, while Mark Braud served as the band's engineer. The album featured many guest musicians. Sean Pendergast and Eric Spagnuolo played guitar on five of the songs, while Tim Pender played guitar on the last five songs. Guest drummer Phil O'Donnell came in as a last-minute replacement for Terry Chimes, who couldn't pass his drug test. After Chimes' drug test came back positive, he was kicked out of the band and O'Donnell was promoted to the drummer position. The only other original member to feature on the album besides Jonathan Davis, Dave Lombardo and Eric Spagnuolo was Paul Barrere, who came in to play bass on "Scary Monsters". Other musicians include Steve Vai on guitar, Andre Fischer on keyboards, and Carlos Vega on drums. Music and lyrics

In the 1980s, Suicidal Tendencies went from a somewhat grunge-oriented style to one of Alternative Rock. After recording their album Instigating (1991) on the independent P-Vine Records, the band began to have pressure from label executives to make commercial albums more accessible. After he Never Miss A Shot! The Rounds in Range Royale are timed. Timed? Yes, accurate shooting is everything in battle. Our reactive rounds will give you that vital second to line up your shot, then hit the target. Each game round is made up of three critical timings: -

ROUNDSSEND - When the rounds are exchanged - READY-TIMER - When you press the trigger - TARGETREADY - When the target is fully uncovered and ready for your shot Your ROUNDSSEND and READY-TIMER are permanently locked for each round. This allows you to focus on perfecting your timing. Your TARGETREADY is only locked until you click the button to start shooting. This allows you to race into your targets if you are faster. At the same time, it also gives you a chance to adjust your aim if you are slower. If you miss, your target will be covered for the next round. If you miss after that, you won't be able to shoot in that round. Hitting Your Target To hit your target you'll need to penetrate its cover, with 0-1 hit (head, chest, legs) to the center of mass. This doesn't matter in the Timed mode, but in the Solo mode you get a single hit point. Each target is further divided into the three parts of the body. A bullseye is a single hit. Use your timings to hit your target in the chest, knees, and legs. Chest (Hips) - Shoot for where the best concealment is. Your chest-shots can penetrate any cover. Knees - The fastest-moving part of your body, your knees travel rapidly. Therefore, your best bet is to target the legs. Legs - The legs are large targets, and therefore, are most vulnerable. When possible, aim for the legs of the "lobster" portion of the target. You get one shot each. The best order is as follows: Chest Knees Legs That last shot of a leg is a chest shot. If you miss the chest, at least you will stop that joint. Tap For Aim Timed Mode In timed mode you have a limited window of time to rack up rounds. The timer resets when you get a headshot or miss. This means you only have a certain number of attempts. Single-Shot Mode When
