Post-operative ocular biomicroscopic and optical coherence tomographic findings Patient 1 required a repeated Glaukos implant. This was due to capsular contracture, with peri-ocular cysts, which resulted in wound leakage and lack of adherence to the implant in the subchoroidal space. After that, the patient underwent a conjunctival autograft and this was revised twice. The patient was still in follow up. Discussion {#s4} ===== Glaucoma is a condition that represents a large burden for public health worldwide, both for primary and secondary glaucoma.[@R2] It has been estimated that the worldwide prevalence of open angle glaucoma (OAG) was 26.8 million in 2010, with an expected increase to 31.5 million in 2020.[@R3] Similar trends were seen in Costa Rica.[@R4] Glaucoma imposes an economic burden in terms of direct costs, from both the diagnostic and therapeutic options to the severity of the disease. Indirect costs have been estimated in a 20-year follow-up, with an overall lifetime cost of a patient with glaucoma of US$42 000. In terms of a conservative estimate, it is estimated that between 50% and 100% of the cases of visual disability in the world are caused by glaucoma. The estimated global costs of glaucoma account for 36 million disability-adjusted life years, 11% of the global burden of disease (GBD) related to OAG.[@R5] Currently 595f342e71
