Just jump and try to stay alive as long as you can.The Lakers have survived the four-year stretch of losing 12 of their last 15 games. And although they were in position to make the playoffs for a few weeks last season, they finished 21st in the Western Conference. That's exactly where the Lakers will be again this season – and yet they're largely considered to be a playoff contender. That makes a lot of sense, when you consider how much better they are at winning games against teams they're supposed to beat. The Los Angeles Clippers lost 13 of 18 games to Lakers teams that were below them in the standings (including seven of nine in 2016-17). The Utah Jazz lost five games and four double-digit games to Lakers teams that were below them in the standings (one of which was a

20-point loss at Staples Center last month). The Oklahoma City Thunder lost five games and four double-digit games to Lakers teams that were below them in the standings. If the Lakers are supposed to be a playoff team, who else are they supposed to beat? If the answer is the Clippers or Jazz, then that's a pretty good sign that the Lakers are an actual playoff contender. If the answer is nobody, then the Lakers really aren't that good. Below is a breakdown of how those three NBA teams performed when they beat teams that were below them in the standings, and how those teams performed when they lost to those same teams. (Teams are listed in order of how their records compare to their opponents'.) Lakers Clippers Jazz Oklahoma City 30-13-4 3-19-9 Utah 15-19-5 3-20-5 The following is a breakdown of how the Lakers have performed against teams below them in the standings c9d1549cdd

 -Up SpongeBob SquarePants: The Cosmic Shake-Up is a platform game developed by Atomic Rooster and published by Activision for the PlayStation 2 (PS2) video game console. It is the first platform game released by the company. It is the eighth game in the SpongeBob SquarePants video game franchise, the first to be developed and published for the PS2, and the second to be released that uses the box artwork from the film. Gameplay The game stars SpongeBob SquarePants, Sandy Cheeks, Patrick Star, Squidward Tentacles, and Sheldon Plankton. The game follows the same gameplay as the previous two 3D platformers released by the franchise, with the exception of retaining the WindWorm license as opposed to the 2D Cars license and redesigning the control aspect. The gameplay is based in the run time of the plot and events of the two previous PSP SpongeBob games, SpongeBob's Last Stand and SpongeBob's Truth or Square. Plot As the Four Square is formed to construct the destinies of the heroes, they find that they need to save the world after discovering that the whole of history has been erased. The group of heroes then time-travel on the Deep Sea Sub, which belongs to Plankton, who wants to use it to get to the year 2464 and thus provide himself with an EMP. To prevent this, they try to knock him out of the sub, but succeed in stopping only the party. They head to their ship, as they each go about constructing their plan for controlling and reprogramming the sub. Soon, they are overtaken by Plankton, but Squidward throws him into the nearby water with the Spoon in an attempt to have him signal everyone. He succeeds, but the purple light he sends out turns out to be Plankton, who evades the 'cannons' that blast him off the boat. Meanwhile, SpongeBob is seen exploring the world that had been erased and goes into a ruined building to save a man named Brooks, whom he looks after, while Sandy and Patrick plan for a rescue attempt. Meanwhile, Sandy has also been travelling around the town looking for the San. Meanwhile, Sandy finds a ghost named Paul and introduces herself to him. She tells him that she got a job with Squidward as an object on which to complete a number of mini-quests in the game, with his concept art; but somewhere along the way, she lost
