Technology Times.We've seen some pretty cool devices for getting rid of the juice in your juice, but just how powerful can a juicer really be? Today you can use the power of electric juicer technology to make smoothies, chai tea, and much more. We've rounded up the 12 best juice machines available on the market today, and we're putting them to the test to see which can make the best juice. Keep reading to see which juicer is right for you, and click here to see which variety juice machine best suits your health and budget. The Blade Runner The Blade Runner juice machines are available in two variations: the Blade Runner Ultimate and the Blade Runner Compact. Both have strong blades and wide-opening juicing plates, which can extract juice from a wide range of fruits and vegetables quickly. The Blade Runner Ultimate is a whole food juicer that uses a unique blade system to make juice that retains the majority of fruit and vegetable nutrients. The juice contains a thicker, smoother texture and very little pulp. It requires no soaking, and it is great for making juice without a pulp-spewing machine. The Blade Runner Compact is a portable juice machine that allows you to juice between three and five cups of produce in one session. It has limited pulp, thanks to its large opening plates, and juice is extracted with a single pulse action. The Blade Runner Compact has a 25-minute juice life. Our Top Choice: The Blade Runner Compact. The Evolution The Evolution juice machine is a high-powered, commercial-grade juicer that can handle a wide range of fruits and vegetables. Its powerful motor and high-efficiency cutter system can process up to 15 pounds of fruits and vegetables an hour. The Evolution also has a powerful speed-dependent cutting system that, with the push of a button, will cut frozen and peeled fruits and vegetables to fit the juicer. The Evolution uses wide-ranging batch blades and fine pulp eject
