I already have uninstalled and reinstalled the driver.1. Field of the Invention The present invention generally relates to a system for powering a plurality of lights simultaneously. More specifically, this invention relates to a system for powering a group of lights having one or more light emitting diodes (LED) for power and at least one light having a plurality of light emitting diodes for light. 2. Description of the Prior Art Electrically powered vehicles commonly require various electric powered devices to operate the vehicle. In many instances, these devices are required to be electrically powered for a relatively long period of time during which the vehicle is in a standby mode. For example, some electrically powered vehicles contain a light system which must be continuously energized for many hours or even days to provide adequate lighting in the vehicle. Such devices are commonly referred to as emergency light fixtures. Many such emergency light fixtures use light emitting diodes (LEDs) to provide the light. LEDs are more efficient and longer lasting than many common incandescent bulbs and other light sources. However, only a limited amount of power is available for such devices, which is typically obtained from a vehicle battery. In view of the foregoing, there exists a need for an emergency light fixture which will not require a full battery charge to provide the required emergency lighting. A further need exists for a multi-light emergency light fixture which will provide a plurality of lights with electrical power.This invention relates to a semiconductor device. More particularly, this invention relates to a power semiconductor device including a structure for enhancing the current driving ability while maintaining a low on-resistance. Many power devices, including power MOSFETs, IGBTs and bipolar junction transistors (BJTs), are fabricated using silicon. These devices, however, require a low on-resistance in order to accommodate a high current. Efforts have been made to reduce the on-resistance by a variety of methods. The addition of a superjunction structure
